

DRILLING FOR GEOLOGY 2008

8 to 10 October 2008

Royal on the Park

Brisbane Australia

SPONSORSHIP, EXHIBITION AND POST-CONFERENCE WORKSHOP OPPORTUNITIES

The Australian Institute of Geoscientists (AIG) is pleased to host a new technical conference focused solely on the collection and analysis of geological information from drilling. Be it grassroots exploration, mining operations or engineering projects, drilling is the prime method used for geological data collection and is often the biggest single cost centre for exploration and mine geology budgets.

The conference will provide geologists and geotechnical engineers with up-to-date information on all drilling related issues. Presentations introduced via key note speeches from industry renowned experts will cover best practice, case studies, emerging developments and blue sky R&D in the themes of:

- Drilling logistics from planning and approvals to execution
- Drilling techniques
- Drill hole sampling and logging methods and applications
- Borehole geophysics and measurement/logging whilst drilling
- Geotechnical and metallurgical application and methods

The AIG invites you to sponsor and/or exhibit and/or deliver professional development workshops at the conference. Drilling for Geology 2008 is an industry focused conference organised by the leading industry organisation representing geoscientists in Australia. It represents a perfect networking opportunity to market your services and expertise directly to many of your existing and prospective clients.

Drilling for Geology 2008 is a three day event comprising two days of technical presentations including keynote addresses, followed by a day of specialised industry forums and workshops, presented by industry leaders. In parallel with the first two days, a trade exhibition and poster display will be held, where social events including morning and afternoon tea and lunches will be held providing unlimited networking opportunities with conference delegates.

The conference will be held in Brisbane at Royal on the Park and is designed to cater for up to 300 delegates. The hotel has excellent conference facilities with a dedicated trade exhibition area and ideal settings for conducting technical workshops and professional development.

If geologists, geophysicists, geotechnical and engineering geologists are your target market, Drilling for Geology 2008 is a perfect opportunity to reach them effectively.

EXHIBITION OPPORTUNITIES

A comprehensive exhibition will be held in conjunction with the Conference to showcase a full range of products and services relating to 'Drilling for Geology 2008'. The trade exhibition will run for the first two days of the conference in conjunction with the formal technical presentations. Exhibitors will be required to set-up prior to 8.15am on Day 1 and dismantle after 4.00pm on Day 2. All breaks and the Welcome Drinks will be held in the trade exhibit area.

Booth dimensions are 3m x 2m and include 2 x 75w spotlights, 1 x 4amp double outlet per stand and the exhibitor's company name displayed on the booth fascia. Superior booth layouts, furniture, audio visual equipment, additional lighting and electrical requirements are also available for hire. Details of suppliers will be forwarded to you upon receipt of your registration.

The proposed floor plan is displayed to assist in selecting your preferred booth location. A representative from EMENEM Event Management, who is working closely with the AIG 'Drilling for Geology 2008' Organising Committee, would be delighted to speak with you to further discuss exhibition opportunities.

POST CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

The third and final day of the conference is dedicated to the running of ongoing professional development and training. AIG wishes to encourage organisations and service providers to present technical workshops, forums and information sharing seminars to conference delegates. There are opportunities to present half day and full day workshops in a range of areas including drilling logistics and contract management, drilling techniques and practices, drill core logging technologies, borehole geophysics, analytical techniques and data management, analysis and interpretation or other related topics.

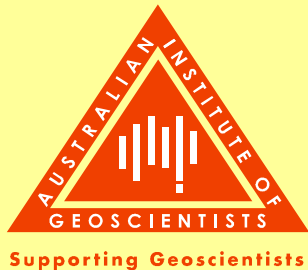

It is anticipated that the majority of post-conference workshops will be held at the Royal on the Park which has excellent facilities and can cater from 5 to 50 workshop participants in each of its meeting rooms. AIG expects to offer from six to ten workshops throughout the day.

Organisations wishing to run post conference workshops are free to set pricing in accordance with their company objectives.

All post-conference workshops will be included on conference circulars and the conference registration form. AIG will manage registrations for the workshops and will charge organisations a nominal booking fee for this service. All other associated expenses, such as venue hire and catering costs, will be the responsibility of the Workshop Organiser.

TERMS & CONDITIONS

1) By returning this signed registration, you agree to be a non-exclusive sponsor/exhibitor of the 'Drilling for Geology 2008' Conference organised by AIG and held at the Royal on the Park from 8 to 10 October 2008. 2) Upon receipt of your registration, acknowledgement of receipt will be sent in writing with a Tax Invoice. 3) Monies paid are non-refundable. 4) The Conference Organisers may at their discretion use your logo, symbol, trade mark or registered mark in acknowledging your sponsorship in the Conference literature where this is offered as part of your particular sponsorship package and no payment shall be made for such use. All logos must be supplied in a high resolution format. Should an alternative format be received, the Conference organisers cannot be held responsible for the quality of the logo displayed. 5) The Conference Committee must approve the size and content of all satchel inserts. 6) Nothing contained in this form will be deemed to constitute a partnership, joint venture or agency relationship between AIG and/or the Conference Organisers. 7) Details in this document are correct a time of printing. EMEMEN Event Management and the 'Drilling for Geology 2008' Conference Organising Committee do not accept responsibility for any changes that may occur.
